How to register an Ingenta Connect account

Personal accounts

To create a personal account, go to www.ingentaconnect.com/register/personal and fill in the online form. ISTA Members should please use the name and e-mail address that they normally use to communicate with ISTA. You can choose your own Ingenta connect username and password for signing in. You will receive a e-mail from Ingenta connect to confirm your registration.

Institutional accounts

To create an institutional account for multi-user access, an authorized person, for example the Laboratory Representative, must register at www.ingentaconnect.com/register/institutional and follow the instructions. Access to the institutional account can be by IP address or by username and password.

In addition, the Laboratory Representative must define another username and password for themselves as account administrator. Only the administrator can set up subscriptions to publications, change account details etc.

Registration will be confirmed by an e-mail from ingenta connect.
